William Adams Is Badly Injured By Automobile

Struck By Touring Car While Riding Bicycle--Thrown Forcibly To Pavement Sustaining Internal Injuries--Condition Is Serious

William Adams, barber, residing at Vine and South Eighth streets, was seriously injured about 5:30 o'clock Thursday evening when he was struck and knocked from his bicycle by an auto driven by Rev. A. B. Markley. The accident occurred at the intersection of Walnut and South Sixth streets. Although it is thought no bones were broken, Adams, in the opinion of physicians, was injured internally about the lungs.

Rev. Markley was driving his car, a new Saxon touring model, west on Walnut. As he reached Sixth, Adams and a companion attempted to pass in front of the auto on their bicycles. Rev. Markley lost control of the car which struck Adams' bicycle, hurling him headlong to the pavement. Adams slid on the rough brick a distance of perhaps ten feet, breaking the skin over the cheekbone and tearing the ear.

Condition Serious

Adams was at once taken to the office of Dr. T. W. Lear who, with Dr. L. C. McClarren, made an examination of the injuries. It was found that in some manner Adams had been struck in the back and that although no bones were broken, internal injuries had been sustained which appeared to effect the lungs. His condition is considered serious.

Eye-witness of the accident and the injured man declare that Rev. Markley was driving at a slow rate of speed and no blame for the accident is placed upon him. Rev. Markley, it was said, is not an experienced driver, and was unable to check the momentum of the car in time to avoid the accident.

Respected Woman Claimed By Death

After suffering for more than eight years from tuberculosis, Mrs. Maggie Bell Price died at her home in Roscoe Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. She made a wonderful fight, enduring her suffering with a patient cheerfulness which endeared her to those who were fortunate enough to be included in her large circle of friends.

Maggie Bell was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bell, who now reside in Roscoe. She was born at Chal'ants, February 28, 1871, residing there until June 27, 1894, when she was united in marriage with Howard Price. With her husband she removed to Roscoe where he is engaged in the undertaking business.

At the age of thirteen, she became a member of the M. E. church at Chal'ants transferring her membership to the Roscoe M. E. church after her marriage. She was closely identified with the progress of the church and took an especially active part in all church work involving the young people. She was a devout Christian, living an exemplary life despite her long suffering and her death has cast a pall of gloom over the entire vicinity where she resided the greater part of her life.

Saturday night, November 13, she was confined to her bed and her condition rapidly became critical. During her last sickness she never lost consciousness until the end came peacefully Thanksgiving morning.

Realizing that she must die, Mrs. Price made all plans for her funeral instructing her husband, who was at her bedside constantly, as to all the details. The funeral arrangements as made by herself, will be carried out in every particular.

One child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Price, Ray Bell Price, infancy. In addition to the bereaved husband, the survivors include two sisters, Mrs. O. L. Pritchard and Mrs. J. W. Porter, both of Roscoe.

Mrs. Price was [illegible] in the church and society. She was [illegible] and [illegible] service [illegible] of 17 [illegible] young people's class, [illegible] young people [illegible] Sunday [illegible] prominent in church activities. She was [illegible] of the Cadets of Pythias lodge [illegible] lodges which she had also Roscoe and took an active part in [illegible] while her health permitted.

Funeral services, planned by Mrs. Price on her deathbed, will be held from the M. E. church at Roscoe Sunday afternoon. The body will be taken from the home at noon Sunday and lie in state at the church until one o'clock, when the services will be held. Mrs. Price selected the songs she desired for the services and the singers. She named her own pall bearers: Harvey Seldon, C. W. Nejonce, C. H. Stipes, F. R. Martin, Alonzo Clark and Karr Daugherty and selected the four girls whom she desired to have in the room with her body the night previous to the funeral. Rev. M. B. Meade of the Roscoe M. E. church was chosen by her to officiate at the service. Rev. C. F. English of Delaware, was chosen to assist.

A week previous to her decease, she called her husband to her side and dictated a final statement pertaining to her life as a Christian. This statement will be read from the pulpit during the funeral services.

Wilhelm Funeral

Funeral services for Valentine Wilhelm, aged 64, now lying at the late residence at 1114 Adams street, will be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock from the United Brethren church with Rev. H. H. Davis in charge. Following the services, the body will be taken to Columbus on No. 19 where interment will be made.

Wilhelm died late Wednesday after a prolonged illness from cancer of the stomach. Some of his close relatives have not yet been located.

UNITED STATES MUST LEAD WAY FOR THE WORLD

Masterful Sermon Delivered At Union Thanksgiving Services By Rev. Smith

SAYS THIS NATION MUST END THE WAR

Government By Christian Ideals And Principles Is To Be Thankful For Gratifying

Coming as a fitting close to a perfect Thanksgiving day for Coshocton people, was the annual union Thanksgiving service held this year at the Methodist Protestant church, at Walnut and Eighth. Both the auditorium and Bible school room of the church were crowded. Rev. Victor A. Smith, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, delivered the sermon which was a masterful, eloquent and impressive address, appropriate to the occasion.

His text was taken from the third and fourth verses of the 108 psalm: "I will give thanks unto Thee Oh, Jehovah, among the peoples and I will sing praises unto the nations. For Thy loving kindness is great above the heavens and Thy truth reaches unto the skies."

Rev. Smith impressed upon his hearers the importance of the mission that Americans as a nation have to perform toward the humanity of other nations.

Greatest Nation

"Let us thank God," said he, "that America today is the greatest nation under heaven. The greatest because she is governed by Christian ideals and principles, which she is seeking to put into effect with the rest of the world. All our civilization and progress is the bountiful gift of Almighty God and America has a mission to perform toward the rest of the world. She must be the Israel of the 20th century.

"While other nations are plunged in war America stands calm in her peace refusing to bloody her hands and to sacrifice her manhood on the altars of the War god. But this is not enough, she must do more or must fall in the purpose for which she has been chosen by Almighty God. She has not fulfilled her mission to humanity until she goes forth and converts the world to the gospel of peace on earth goodwill to man.

Peace Possible

"There are some who will say that world peace is impractical. But I say that so long as any nation survives that nation fails to comprehend the gospel of Jesus Christ. There is only one way by which this mission can be carried out and that is for America to practice what she preaches. If we preach peace we must practise peace. If we preach love we must practice love.

"As a Christian nation America is awake today to Christian ideals and duties to humanity. May God speed the day when the reign of war will give place to the dove of peace all over the world."

Enjoyable Service

The president's Thanksgiving proclamation was read by Rev. D. C. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and other ministers of the city took part in the services. The [illegible] Presbyterian choir sang [illegible] "A Prayer in Time of War," by Clay, and "Peace, Perfect Peace," by Mrs. E. A. Dorsey. Dr. W. R. Davis, Lee A. Pritchard, S. Bowers.

COUNTY FEEDS WELL.

Inmates at the county jail and infirmary fared well Thursday, their Thanksgiving menu being one that would equal that of most Coshocton homes.

There were [illegible] inmates at the county [illegible] three men and one [illegible] woman who fell upon the turkey and trimmings served to them in a delicious style by the matron, Mrs. [illegible]. The menu included turkey, baked [illegible] potatoes, cream gravy, [illegible] oysters, cranberry sauce, celery and pumpkin pie.

At the county infirmary, 50 inmates, ranging in age from 16 to 92, sat down at tables laden with turkey, mashed potatoes, [illegible] cranberry sauce, celery, pickles, [illegible] pumpkin pie, fruits and coffee. Mrs. Caroline Sohn, the oldest inmate, She ate a peach her eighty-third milestone next spring.

High School Player Has Bone Broken

John Siegel, aged 16, member of the local high school football team, sustained a fracture of the left cheekbone in the game Thursday afternoon with Millersburg. Siegel was in the midst of a scrimmage when the accident occurred and was forced to retire from the game. He was taken in an auto to the office of Dr. Lear who reduced the fracture, which was said to be a serious one although not compound. Siegel resides on Orange street.

Millersburg Man Called

Word was received here Thursday of the death of Samuel McKenzie, aged 80, which occurred at his home in Millersburg Thursday morning after a short illness from heart trouble and other complications. Funeral services will be held from the home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Misses Sarah and Beth Scammon, of this city, are nieces of the deceased, and will attend the funeral. Mr. McKenzie at one time lived near Bloomfield and was well known about the county.

Reigle Is Injured

A message from Columbus was received Thursday by William Gossard, of this city, stating that Alva Reigle, of Columbus, son-in-law of Felix Speer, of this city, was struck by an automobile Thursday morning in Columbus and that his condition had resulted in his being seriously ill.

Mrs. William Miller and daughter, Blanche, of Uniontown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Abbott, in Coshocton, Thanksgiving.

DEMOCRATS OF OHIO UNITED; PEACE REIGNS

Leader Of True Democracy League Says He Will Support His Old Foe

HARMON FAVORITE AT THE PRIMARIES

Congressman Whitacre Says He Knows When He Is Through Making Fight

Peace in the ranks of Democracy of Ohio and an end to the activities of the True Democracy league, are foreshadowed in a statement issued by John J. Whitacre, who was an insurrectionist during the last gubernatorial campaign. In his opinion, necessity for the league has ceased to exist, though he does not claim to speak for the entire organization. A united party in 1916 and Democratic victory in Ohio will be the result, Democrats think.

For Harmon or Cox

Mr. Whitacre says he is for Governor Harmon, first, and will vote for him in the primaries. But if Governor Cox is nominated he will get Mr. Whitacre's hearty and undivided support.

That Mr. Whitacre's action virtually puts an end to the "True Blue Democrats," as they were called, is the universal belief, as Mr. Whitacre was the greater part of that organization and virtually its founder.

The Whitacre statement includes the following:

"I am a Democrat and will support the party's nominee for governor. This is no time for any divisional or factional differences in the party.

Will Vote For Harmon

"At the primaries I will vote for Judson Harmon, if he is a candidate, but after that time I will be for the man the party nominates.

"Last year I opposed Cox, but that fight is over, and if he is nominated by the party he will have my support."

Whitacre's action in burying the hatchet is thought to be the result of a conference held in Canton two months ago between Whitacre and Senator Pomerene and former Congressman J. H. Goeke, of Wapakoneta, the purpose of which was confessedly in the interests of party unity. After the conference Whitacre said that the work of the True Democracy league was ended, in his opinion.

"I know when I'm through with a fight," said Whitacre to friends at Wyoming after issuing his formal statement at Canton on Wednesday evening, "and the 1914 campaign is over and we are all starting new. There has been no change in my ideals but I feel that conditions are different and that I can conscientiously support Mr. Cox if he is nominated."

Entente Powers' Relations With Greece Improve

Austro-German Sweep in North Serbia Continues--Jap Guns Arrive at Black Sea--Greek Troops May Demoblize--German Troops Arrive at Prilep.

London, Nov. 25.—Although there is improvement in the relations between Greece and the Entente powers, the military situation of the Serbians is more disturbing.

Only a small strip of territory in western and southern Serbia remains in the hands of the Serbs and the Anglo-French forces and now a great battle has developed on Kossovo plain which may seal the fate of King Peter's main army.

In North Central Serbia, the sweep of the Austro-German army continues unchecked. The Teutonic troops that took Mitrovitza and Prinstina are now driving toward Pristrend, near which point they hope to form a junction with the Bulgarians. If this move is successful and the Bulgars win on Kossovo Plain, the Serbian forces will be surrounded by a ring of steel with only two alternatives—annihilation or surrender.

Jap Guns Arriving

A telegram received at Copenhagen from Berlin today says that great consignments of heavy Japanese guns are arriving daily at Odessa on the Black sea coast of Russia. It is inferred co-operation of Russian forces in the Balkan campaign is to begin shortly.

Large numbers of the Serbians were captured by the Austrian-German forces at Mitrovita and Pristina, the occupation of which was announced yesterday. The Berlin war office today announced the capture of 10,000 Serbians at Mitrovitza and 7,000 at Pristina.

Greece to Demobilize.

The improvement in the Balkan political situation which has followed the agreement with Greece, has failed to dispel entirely the pessimism occasioned by the military reverses in Serbia.

According to a dispatch to the Star, Greece did not give an unconditional answer to the demands of the allies, but reserved complete freedom to intervene only when her vital interests are threatened.

In addition, King Constance promised to demobilize part of his army which indicates that the Greek government is bent upon a continuation of neutrality for the immediate future at least.

On the other hand another Athens dispatch says Greece has fully met the demands of the powers.

It is learned from an authoritative source that the pressure brought against the Greek government by England, France and Italy included threats to occupy Greek territory.

The allies have promised not to retain any Greek territory after the war and to pay Greece for any loss incurred by the use of railways and telegraphs.

Germany Will Protest

The censorship placed upon Greek cables by England, France and Italy has been lifted and Greek ships that were detained when the "pacific blockade" went into effect, are being released.

It is expected that Germany will make strong protests to the Greek government against the concessions to the allies. At the same time, Germany will probably levy fresh demands upon Greece and serve notice that no protection can be given Greek propert, if the Teutonic allies are compelled to pursue the Anglo-French forces and the Serbs over the border into Greek territory.

More German Troops Arrive

The arrival of seven regiments of German troops at Prilep, Serbia is announced by the newspaper in what purports to be dispatches received from Bucharest.

There have been reports that the advance upon Monastir was delayed after the capture of Prilep by the Bulgarians to await the arrival of German troops as it was feared the occupation by the Bulgarians of a town so near the Greek border might cause unrest in Greece.

The Bonner correspondent at Zurich says that according to reports received there from Vienna, the allies are preparing to remain at Saloniki for an indefinite period, as they are landing machinery for an electric power station, besides awarding contracts for extensive and substantial barracks.

and west portions of the county while in some sections entirely absent. The average yield of timothy was estimated at one and a half tons to the acre.

Clover was a disappointment to those who hoped to harvest a seed crop. The yield was very small indeed and the quality poor. Quite a bit of hay of each variety was lost because of not occasioned by the rains during the harvesting period.

Plenty Of Apples.

Figures in regard to the apple and peach crop could not be obtained. General reports from the county indicate that the early fruits were light, cherries and peaches being scarce. With the possible exception of the apple crop, the yields were scarcer than last year.

Apples are plentiful throughout the county and many complain that they can find no market for the crop. One grower it is said has 1800 bushels of the luscious fruit in his orchards. Many bushels of the crop are being converted into cider, the mills being unusually busy this fall.

operating a few of them he said, "So far as I am able to learn, all factories are running full capacity and no one in this city seems to go cold and hungry this winter. Second there are a number of churches manned by specially and efficient men and there is no excuse for any one to stay home because his special type of religious thought is not represented. Third the bride note has sounded for a better day when fewer and fewer will be in sorrow on Thanksgiving day because of the curse of drink. And fourth while nearly every home in Europe is plunged in blackness because of the insane lust for blood involving more than half the civilized world, peace, plenty and good cheer will reign in the happy homes of our city."

Peace And Plenty.

A. L. Caton, retail merchant, says there are so many things to be thankful for that to begin to name them almost means never to find a stopping place. "For the general peace and prosperity of our native country, we as citizens of Coshocton should be thankful," he says. "That we have not been plunged into a war is of itself enough for thankfulness. We should be truly thankful for the high religious and educational standards of our city, for the general business prosperity and the abundant crops that have been harvested throughout the country."

Progress Made.

H. D. Beach, one of the city's largest manufacturers says, "Coshocton has every reason to be thankful for its multitude of blessings. We have been free from floods during the last year, from disastrous fires, epidemics of disease and financial failures. Business is fairly prosperous and evidence is on every hand of still further improvement. The town has made progress, morally, financially, and physically during the year. The spirit of good fellowship is in the air and an attempt is now being made to unite our people to the end that all may work together for the town and everything tends towards its advancement. Surely Coshocton has cause to be thankful."

Prospects Bright.

C. F. Barnes, a leading coal operator of the city, speaking of the cause for thankfulness said, "So far as the coal business is concerned the prospects are bright for the future. The last year has been one of readjustments following the long strike and it looks as though the coal business in Ohio may again come into its own and real cause for thankfulness be found once more both among operators and miners.

Other Matters.

Our churches, schools, the work of the women's clubs, the splendid organization of the young women in the Y. W. work, the work of the Associated charities and of the Salvation Army were a few of the things which also found particular mention in the interviews. And altogether the trouble seems not to be to find things to be thankful for but to find and end to the many, many blessings when once we begin to think of them.

Col. Watson Called Away

Word was received in Coshocton Wednesday morning of the death of Colonel W. C. Watson, father of East Liverpool, father of Mrs. Victor A. Smith, wife of the rector of Trinity Episcopal church, of South Seventh street.

Colonel Watson had been ill for the last several weeks and a few days ago his condition became so serious that Mrs. Smith was summoned to his bedside. Tuesday Rev. Mr. Smith was called and both were there when the end came.

Colonel Watson had spent almost his entire life in East Liverpool where he was identified with the Knowle, Taylor & Knowles pottery firm in the capacity of salesman for the past twenty-five years. He was one of East Liverpool's most highly respected citizens.

No funeral arrangements had been made Wednesday, but the services will not in all probability be held before Friday. Rev. Smith stated in his message to Coshocton that he would return to his home here eWdnesday evening and would deliver the Thanksgiving sermon Thursday evening at the Methodist Protestant church as planned.

GROOMS HALF-BLOOD CALF TO VICTORY

L. I. Cherrington Wins Trip to Washington In Face of Great Odds.

The story of how L. I. Cherrington, a farmer lad of Jackson county, Ohio, groomed a half-blood calf to victory over thoroughbreds and won a trip to Washington, Philadelphia, New York and points of interest, is surely a romantic one, more than one million boys know.

How is the story, in the words of young Cherrington, as he related it in a letter to T. P. Riddle, Lima, Director of Junior Contest:

"When the Buckeye Corn Special left last year, I little thought I would go on the next one, for I thought I could not hope to compete successfully against the boys on bottom-land farms in raising corn. Ours is a Jackson county hill farm.

"But last Spring, the Citizens' Bank of Jackson offered a trip on the Buckeye Corn Special for the best calf raised in the county. Even then, I did not think I would enter the contest, because we did not have full blooded stock. I thought it would be a waste to enter a grade calf, even a good one, against registered cattle.

"I wrote a few men who handled registered stock for their prices on calves, and upon receiving them, decided that I could afford to buy one. But the Cashier of the Bank encouraged me to enter with what I had. So I entered Princess, not because I thought she would win, but to help boost the calf show, which was one of the features of the Fall Festival."

Cherrington says he thought it would take more than scientific feeding to make his calf a winner. "Princess" was kept in a shed all alone, given her daily exercise, and was washed as carefully as if she had the blood of blood in her veins. She proved the winner of the contest, and one of the happiest lads to board the Buckeye Corn Special, November 29, will be her proud winner.

BIG CROWDS ATTEND TWO GAMES

Coshocton Makes Only Touchdown of Whole Season

Coshocton High broke her long drought Thursday afternoon and scored her only touchdown of the season against Millersburg High school in the first quarter of the game Thursday afternoon at the fairgrounds. The game ended in a tie score of 6 to 6. A remarkable feature in connection with the game was the fact the visiting team had scored a point in the other games of their season's schedule.

Coshocton opened the game with a rush, playing old style football with a vim that took their opponents off their feet. The ball was advanced down the field and scored in the first few minutes of the second quarter.

Millersburg scored in the last of the first half. C. Smith intercepted one of Coshocton's forward passes for a touchdown, but failed at a try for a goal.

Both teams relied on straight football and appeared to be about equal in strength after the first quarter in which Coshocton had the advantage. Barcroft, Brunskill and Turner all played good ball but the brilliant tackling of Reed undoubtedly entitled him to the honors of the day.

The lineup:

Millersburg	Pos.	Coshocton
Jones	l. e.	Jones

A WORRIER

Thanksgiving Day Brought Her a Respite

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

When the great war broke out in Europe my little girl, Fredrica, was in Munich studying art. I at once became uneasy about her, and when I heard of the great number of Americans detained in Europe I lost my head entirely. I wanted John to go at once and bring our daughter home.

He endeavored to quiet me, reminding me that Fredrica was not the child she had been, that it would be difficult for her to get across, still more difficult to find her and impossible to get back to America. He was worried himself, though he did not admit it to me, well knowing that we had been able only to keep our child supplied with sufficient funds to pay her way from month to month without providing anything ahead, and she had no money to bring her home.

Week after week passed, and we heard nothing from our child. Worrying told on me bodily, and I was reduced to skin and bone. At last I told John that if he did not do something to find my stepson he would lose me as well as Fredrica. He went out at once to learn if he could get across the ocean, and, finding that a ship would sail next day, he took passage on her and, procuring by loan what money he would need, bade me goodby. "I have no doubt," he said "that Fred will be here with you before I return. Nevertheless there is no help for it; I must go after her."

As soon as he had gone I was half sorry I had let him go. Now I had the two of them to worry about instead of one. Besides, by this time ships began to come in loaded with returning Americans, and the stories of their discomforts were harrowing. John went over in an English ship, and I worried lest he should be captured by one of the German war vessels at that time roving the sea.

When, true enough, I took up a newspaper and saw that this had really happened I was in despair. It was all I could bear to think of my only child detained without means in Germany, and now I had the additional worriment of her father carried about on the ocean with no prospect of being landed anywhere, for he might be captured by a German cruiser, and they were running the gantlet of the enemy's cruisers and often did not put into port for months at a time.

I started in [illegible] on the 1st of September. O[illegible] could not [illegible] unless I had [illegible] and even [illegible] he might [illegible] he had [illegible] of the world in which case, [illegible] John interrupted, it might be a [illegible] months [illegible] time I had only our daughter [illegible] about, and [illegible] I worried. [illegible] Fredrica, I worried about John [illegible] I worried because I knew that [illegible] could worry about me. I believe that if I could have thought of [illegible] to worry about I would have [illegible] it. The only thing else [illegible] was to worry about was myself, but that didn't trouble me a bit. And yet there was apparently more cause to worry about myself than either of the others, for I had lost twenty pounds and was gradually sinking into the grave.

November came and not a word from either of my absent ones. I had private friends, of course, who tried in every way to cheer me up. My cousin, Ellen Thompson, asked me about a week before Thanksgiving to promise that I would spend the day with her and her large family. She said that with so many of them I would forget my troubles. I told her that I would be more miserable in the midst of a happy family than anywhere else, and I would spend Thanksgiving in my own home, enduring my loneliness as best I could.

The day before Thanksgiving I went around to Ellen Thompson's to ask if she had seen in any of the papers a notice of the landing of the persons on the German cruiser had captured.

"Why, Ellen, what in the world are you going to do with two turkeys?" I exclaimed, noticing a pair of gobblers just delivered from the market.

"Oh, we've so many friends to fill," she said, "that one turkey won't do."

It seemed to me that she had ordered provisions enough to last her a fortnight. But I said no more about it, and since Ellen said that she hadn't seen anything to comfort me in the papers I went home. I carried me to my very door, for before I left Ellen she got hysterical about me and sobbed on my neck. I reckoned that she was concealing some sad news from me.

The next morning, Thanksgiving day, I had scarcely finished dressing when, hearing a cab to stop before the house, I looked out through the window, and who should I see but John alighting from a cab! And the next thing I saw was John handing out Fredrica. I ran downstairs at the risk of my neck, and, meeting them at the front door, together they kept me from falling on the floor in a faint.

Soon after their arrival Ellen brought in an extra Thanksgiving dinner she had provided for us, for John had sent her a message from quarantine to let her know that he and Fred were coming. We had a glorious Thanksgiving. John and Fred were relating their adventures. John had been put ashore from a cruiser that had captured his ship out of the war zone and had come to Munich, where he found Fred quietly pursuing her studies, waiting for her next remittance.

I tell [illegible] I will never worry again. Here [illegible] "Till the next time."

He [illegible] the line [illegible] Coshocton's two touchdowns, the other being made by [illegible] the ball [illegible] few minutes of the second quarter. Phi Sig [illegible] a good game and added a point by kicking a good goal to clinch win.

[illegible] were the stellar performances for Zanesville in gathering in forward passes from Quarterback Pfeiffer. Pfeiffer himself helped a lot by fumble [illegible] by his accurate passing and a drop kick from the twenty yard line in the last two minutes of play.

Coshocton, being heavier, plowed through the line at will for substantial gains but lost the ball on fumbles. Zanesville, finding that the end runs and plays netted little and [illegible] depended upon tried for gains on the forward pass which was worked successfully. In the last quarter this play was used exclusively. Seven being [illegible] of the 10 yards. The only run attempted by Zanesville in this quarter lost several yards. Zanesville made her three points on a drop kick by Pfeiffer at the end of the last quarter. Coshocton made her tallies on end runs and plunges.

WEATHER AND THE SCHOOL.

Cold, Calm and Clear Days Show the Pupils at Their Best.

Teaching children is not the easiest thing in the world. It presents a problem complicated by many and diverse factors. Some of these are only now beginning to be properly appreciated. One such is the influence of weather conditions.

Investigation has shown that the state of the weather has a marked effect both on the children's conduct and on their mental and physical powers.

This was first clearly brought out a few years ago by an American psychologist, Professor E. G. Dexter, whose researches still are among the most exhaustive and informing that have been made in this novel field of inquiry.

Professor Dexter, studying conditions in the schools of cities at sea level, like New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and of others at high altitudes, found that in the former the pupils were best behaved on cold, calm and clear days. Muggy days were productive of the greatest unruliness. A marked tendency to misbehavior was also noted on hot days and on windy ones.

In high altitude schools, such as those of the city of Denver, where mugginess is seldom in evidence, windy days were found to have the most disastrous effect on conduct. Cold, calm and clear days were again the days of best behavior.

With respect to working ability the same results were observed. Both mental and physical tasks were best performed on cold, calm and clear days.—H. Addington Bruce in New York Globe.

Charm Cures.

Belief in charm cures is not quite extinct even today. Only a short while ago a child in East Anglia went to a school [illegible] request from her mother [illegible] a rushbell to hang round her [illegible] neck to cure her whooping cough. In the west country some [illegible] faith in the cure of whooping cough by administering to sufferers [illegible] a hair from the tail of a black [illegible] dog. [illegible] Tonic.

SOCIETY NEWS
That Will be of Interest to Women

Local Club Women to Play Santa Claus for the Blind

Charles F. F. Campbell, executive secretary for the Ohio Commission for the Blind, is arranging for the Christmas sale of articles made by the blind citizens of Ohio. Of their work he says:

"The state of Ohio, through its Commission for the blind, is going to play Santa Claus for the hundreds of sightless persons who live within its borders, and an opportunity is to be given every resident of the state to help make this Christmas the most enjoyable that these unfortunates have ever experienced.

"It is going to be an easy matter to help the blind, and the appeal is not one of charity, but one of justice. The Ohio Commission for the Blind furnishes the materials for the making of many attractive household articles, which are needed every day in all well regulated homes. Aprons, bibs, ironholders, kitchen linens, baskets, rugs, etc.

"Instead of sitting around in idiness worrying about their misfortune, the blind persons make these articles, and they are offered for sale through the commission to the public. All the money received from the sale of these articles, except the actual cost of the materials, is paid to the blind workers by the state of Ohio. No profit is sought, no commission is charged, but in its great humane task the state acts as the selling agent.

Help By Buying.

"These articles may be purchased through the Ohio Commission for the Blind at Columbus, and mail orders will be promptly filled. The charge is no higher than the same articles sold in the regular way in the stores, and are made of substantial materials, mostly hand sewed, and well worth the small price asked.

"You can help the blind by making a small purchase, and can rest assured that every penny of the money will go direct to blind maker in his or her home, and no charge of any kind will be made by the state as selling agent. A list of the articles made by the blind may be obtained for the asking by addressing the Ohio Commission for the Blind, Columbus, Ohio. And every sale made will help bring cheerfulness and gladness to the darkened home and make the light from the Star of Bethlehem shine more brightly.

"A pretty little rosy-cheeked doll dressed in the height of fashion, ready to go out anywhere on Christmas morning. Wouldn't that be a nice Christmas present? Especially with the thought of how the dress was made, and how the little doll was garbed by one who worked by touch, and not by sight.

Made By Blind.

"The state of Ohio through its commission for the blind has a number of these dollies ready for shipment anywhere, and they are just about the prettiest things that one could find. And the satisfaction behind them. Every stitch of the fashionable garments was made by some blind home worker. And the moments of pleasure of these unfortunates who were working to please some little girl or boy!

"The Ohio commission for the blind purchases the dolls, the goods needed for the present dresses and sends them to the blind workers. Then after the little Christmas gifts are all dressed it is the Sunday-go-to-meeting outfits they are sent back to the commission at Columbus. And the commission has to sell them. Then every penny received from the sale of them, with the exception of the actual cost of the doll and material used for making the dresses is sent back to the blind worker, and it helps to provide funds for their Christmas.

Christmas Dolls.

"The prices of these dolls are $1 and $1.50. Just two kinds and, while they are limited in number, it is expected that the supply will be ample for the Christmas trade. The commission is not running in opposition to any local merchant, but offers these pretty toys, the work of blind persons, to those who want to help the unfortunates.

"There is a heap of sentiment back of each doll, and the thought of making such a Christmas gift, made by women and girls who have never seen even the color of the clothes put upon them, surely should be one that will help fill the donor with pride in making the dollar do double duty, making some little girl happy, and at the same time aiding the more unfortunate blind. The dolls may be secured by addressing the Ohio Commission for the Blind, Columbus, Ohio, and will be sent securely packed, on receipt of price."

While no definite action has been taken it is quite probable that these articles will be handled in Coshocton during the holidays this year by the City Federation of Women's clubs, as has been the custom during the last several years. There have been a number of requests for a sale of the articles similar to the one conducted by Miss Clark, a representative of the commission, at the home of Mrs. Howard Miller, last spring and if it can be arranged such a sale will no doubt be held about two weeks before Christmas.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing-down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSENG, Box 8, Allyn, Wash.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Sigs Enjoy Pretty Dance Thanksgiving Evening

Among the social affairs which made Thanksgiving day especially enjoyable for a company of young people, including a number of visitors and college students home for the day, was the dancing party given by the Phi Sigma Sigma fraternity in their club rooms last evening. Among the guests were members of the football team of the Zanesville chapter, who dashed with the local fraternity over Thanksgiving morning.

Enjoying the affair were: Miss McCleary, of Columbus; Misses Mary Owens, Della Hay, Ruth Markley, Winifred Abbott, Thelma Ward, Lucile Robinson, Mary Abbett, Nelle Clark, Lenora Hay, Doris Crowthers, Katherine Kurtz, Geraldine Day, Dorothy Dawson, Esther Brandfield, Myrtle Brandfield, Mary Wolford, and Marie Shaw. Mesdames Haines, Robert Boyd, Nye Irvine, Maurice Lane and Fred Schott, of Zanesville. Mills Day, David Markley, William Slagle, Thomas Williams, Francis Hay, Clyde Ayres, Joseph Williams, Charles Brooke, Fred Compton, Rodney Brooke, Thomas Hartrickhouse, Clarence Greene, Russell Speckman, Charles Sells, Frank Sawyel, Alva Deems, McKinley Dudley and Fred Slagle.

Women Make Appeal For World Peace

"For the sake of all anxious mothers dreading that their sons may be added to the 10,000,000 men killed or crippled in this war, will you join the appeal to be made Friday by Mrs. Ethel Snowden of England and Mme. Rosika Schwimmer of Hungary to President Wilson, by telegraphing him immediately somewhat as follows:

"'We urge a conference of neutral nations to find a definite settlement of this war'?"

This was the message which came Wednesday to Mrs. Howard Miller, past-president of the City Federation of Women's clubs of Coshocton, from Miss Jane Addams, chairman of the Women's Peace party.

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the maker and the sending of the telegrams to club women all over America in hopes that they may be aroused to join in the peace appeal.

It is probable that the message will be sent to the president today by Mrs. C. B. Smith, president of the federation, in the name of the organization's two hundred members.

Parrot Regains Youth And Rank

Here's the latest girls! If you want to be "in it" get a parrot. They're next. Just as soon as I supposed that the old lady who lived a cat, a dog and a parrot had passed to the end, I saw the parrot has vanished from our homes. The big green bird lives in luxury in Paris and becomes fashionable. At the Paris fashion show, held in the Hotel de Ritz Carlton last week, each of the new fashions will carry a dog, a cat or a parrot.

Completing the Circuit.

The impromptu introduction which took place between the Duke of Wellington and the Duke of Marlborough at Assington Hall, near Sudbury, Suffolk, England, when the latter, who had come to pay a visit to his host, Captain Wellington, at the Guards' Club, Pall Mall, London, on the occasion of the former's marriage to the Princess Victoria Melita, sister of the Duchess of Fife, and when the latter had occasion to speak said to him, "Can you stop a sneeze?"

"Certainly, sneeze," said the unwary captain.

The general made a loud noise. "And so can I," he said dryly.

Plenty Of Toys Made In Country

The European war and the British embargo on non-contraband goods from enemy countries have not, as at first it was thought they might, lessened the size of Santa Claus' pack for his American boys and girls this year. By dint of hard work the jolly old man has found means to gather together as large an assortment of toys as were ever brought over from across the seas and will have them ready for distribution on Christmas eve.

American manufacturers of toys with the same enterprise shown by the domestic makers of dyestuffs, built additions to their existing establishments, took on extra workers and started in to increase their annual output of playthings by many times the volume heretofore known in this country.

"The American toy manufacturers," said the manager of a large local shop, "seem to have anticipated by a few months President Wilson's plans for 'preparedness,' as they have turned out the most complete assortment of superdreadnaughts, battle cruisers, scout cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers and submarines that I have met with in my experience. These toys follow the regular lines of battleship construction even to armor and armament.

"All of these vessels are of the mechanical sort, made for use in bathtubs, ponds or lakes. One of the cleverest types out this year is known as the sinking of battleship. A self-propelled torpedo is launched against a steel battleship which breaks apart and sinks if the aim of the gunner is good. There also are submarines which discharge a torpedo against a breakwater and blow it up while another type of submarine dives and rises automatically."

"After the British embargo became effective early in the year," said a representative of a wholesale toy importing house, "things looked pretty dark for the holiday toy season. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of German toys were on the docks at Rotterdam awaiting shipment to the United States. Lately, however, the British government has begun issuing permits for the shipment of such goods as were ordered and paid for before March 1 last, and this is relieving the situation to some extent."

Customs figures for the six months ending with July show that dolls and parts of dolls brought into this country had a value of $54,111, compared with $71,051 for the same period in 1914. All other toys imported during the same months of this year had a value of $1,887,158, as against $1,601,[illegible] of last year, compared with $[illegible] in 1913. Whereas in the year [illegible] the imports of toys [illegible] $[illegible] in 1913 [illegible] $[illegible] in 1914 [illegible] $[illegible] in 1915.

Girls-Do You Know Why Your Hair Is Ugly?

It is astonishing how much good bobbing hair does toward producing a youthful appearance and still more astonishing to realize how much the attractiveness of the hair is affected by the care we give it.

Loving care and frequent attention are necessary to keep a woman's hair beautiful and luxuriant as is the tooth brush to keep teeth free from decay.

Every woman who values the beauty of her hair as she ought to should make it a never broken habit to frequently apply a little Parisian Sage, rubbing it briskly into her scalp with the finger tips.

Parisian Sage is Nature's modern handmaid to beautiful feminine hair. It is a simple, harmless compound of wholesome, nutritious ingredients that make an ideal lotion for nourishing both hair and scalp. It feeds and builds up the delicate hair and scalp structures making the hair soft, lustrous, brilliant and easy to dress and arrange. Wimmer-Arnold Co., and many other of our best druggists sell Parisian Sage and gladly recommend its use.

"ANURIC!"
THE NEWEST
DISCOVERY IN CHEMISTRY

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Doctor Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that there is no other eliminator of uric acid that can be compared to it. For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—as backache, scalding urine and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

Go to your nearest drug store and simply ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric," manufactured by Dr. Pierce, or even write Doctor Pierce for a free sample. If you suspect kidney or bladder trouble, send him a sample of your water and describe symptoms. Doctor Pierce's chemist will examine it, then Dr. Pierce will report to you without fee or charge.

NOTE—French savants report that "Anuric" is phenomenally more potent than lithia in eliminating uric acid, and is a harmless but powerful chemical compound that may be safely given to children, but should be used only to grown-ups who wish to restore their kidneys to perfect health, by eliminating uric acid—to more in network—as "Anuric" (thanks to Doctor Pierce) and common) is by far the most potent kidney and bladder eliminator obtainable.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the original little Liver Pills. One little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic.

DON'T BE PENNY WISE

Don't think you are economizing by dropping yourself a nice tailored suit and wearing a readymade suit. It doesn't pay. One of my suits, while it costs little more at first than the ready-made, is so substantially tailored of the best materials that it will wear, hold its shape and look well after the ready-made is discarded. It more than makes up in style, wear and comfort for the small increase in cost over the ready-made. Come and see my new woolens, get prices and talk it over.

SOME LEADING "PREPARATIONISTS"

One of the chief agitators for the billion-dollar "preparedness" program is Col. Robert M. Thompson's "Navy League," an organization of Wall street millionaries who know as much about a navy as they do about a Kansas cornfield.

Col. Thompson is a boon companion of J. Pierpont Morgan and of his brother-in-law, Herbert L. Satterlee, corporation lawyer and special pleader for an increased army and navy and spokesman for the munition makers and steel trust. The "Navy League" is now spending thousands of dollars "educating the American press of the urgent need of preparation for war on a big scale."

Col. Thompson's chief argument for "preparedness" is the fact that the United States is now the recipient of heavy gold shipments from Europe and that the nations who are now compelled to make these gold shipments are sore about it and when the present European war is over will assess a mighty fleet, a modern Armada, and come over here, capture the gold and take it back!

He is also authority for the statement that the United States congress is composed of a bunch of nuts and that when it has voted the billion dollar war appropriation the money ought to be turned over unreservedly to the navy because there are not brains enough in congress to spend the money wisely!

The truth about this so-called "Navy League" is that it is composed of bankers who are profiting beyond the wildest flights of imagination in the manufacture of munitions of war and are determined after the European conflict is over that the American people shall thereafter guarantee their immensely profitable graft.

That our people may know the character and business affiliations of some of the prime movers in the "Navy League," the following data is herewith submitted:

J. Pierpont Morgan, who is today making more money than any other individual in the history of the world, principally out of his affiliations with the purchasing agents of several of the European nations now at war.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the Steel Trust, who is also making tremendous profits out of war munitions.

George F. Baker, Jr., who is vice-president of the First National Bank and director of the Chase National, both members of the Morgan war loan syndicate.

J. Horace Harding, who is a member of Charles D. Barney & Company, director in the Columbia Trust and Metropolitan Trust Companies, all three members of the Morgan war loan syndicate.

Lewis L. Clarke, who is director of the American Locomotive Company, a war munitions concern.

Seward Prosser, who is director in the International Nickel Company and the Bethany Steel Spring Company, besides being President of the Bankers Trust Company, member of the Morgan war loan syndicate.

Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., who is trustee of the Central Trust, of the United States Trust and director of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, all members of the Morgan war loan syndicate.

J. P. Grace, who is director of the National City Bank and trustee of the New York Trust Company, members of the Morgan war loan syndicate.

Ogden L. Mills, who is a director of the Lackawanna Steel Company, a war munitions concern, filling enormous war orders.

This is the crowd which has organized this so-called "Navy League" and [illegible] the name, to help them hoodwink the American people into believing that this country is in imminent danger of attack from some foreign power. These are the men who [illegible] for public consumption like [illegible] about a vast European fleet crossing the Atlantic at the close of the war to take back the gold Europe has been compelled to send here in the last year!

They are the men who assume that congress will appropriate a billion dollars for war preparation, but openly declare that the representatives of the people haven't sense enough to spend it properly and that this money, without any string or check, should be turned over to "the navy"—perhaps they really mean to the members of the "Navy League"—to spend as they see fit.

Well, if congress appropriates the billion dollars President Wilson plans it shall, it might as well turn it over directly to this bunch of profiteers for profit, for they will get it all shortly, anyhow.

As for the people who foot the bills? Well, they will get the same skinning, multiplied by four, they are getting now for their current appropriation of $250,000,000 for war purposes and a bunch of battleships that go regularly to the scrap heap every eight or ten years without having accomplished a single practical service in behalf of the people who pay for them.

HIS DAY OF REST.

A Town In France Where a Legal Holiday Is Strictly Observed.

The jeweler's face expressed bewilderment and astonishment and amusement. He looked from the artist to me and back again at the artist. He started at the end of every sentence to say something, but the artist didn't give him a chance. The artist kept on talking, while I kept on trying to control my sense of humor. I wanted to shriek. I longed for the ability to write shorthand, so that I could put it all down for posterity.

The artist had left a watch to be mended, and we were standing in front of the jeweler's shop on one of the narrow streets of Douarnenez, a town in the extreme west of France. The shutters were up in front of the shop, and the jeweler was in his shirt sleeves, looking as if he had been waked up by our knock from an enjoyable after-dejeuner sleep. The artist and I were leaving by the 3:15 train for Pont Croix, and we didn't intend to come back this way. It was Thursday, but the jeweler had politely explained that he could not give us the watch until tomorrow, although it was all ready and was hanging from its little hook in the shop at whose open door we stood. The reason was that Thursday had been chosen by the jeweler for his repos hebdomadaire—the one day in seven rest imposed by law.—Herbert Adams Gibson in Harper's Magazine.

Horse Sense.

In "Tod Sloane," by himself, the once famous jockey says that a horse exceeds even a dog in intelligence and that if a thoroughbred were small enough to run about a house like a dog and have the same chances instead of being so much alone surprising results would follow. "Cussedness" in horses, he thinks, may be caused by too much inbreeding, bringing about an extraordinary temperament. The best jockey, says Sloane, is the boy with a nervous temperament. "He is quick and alert to take in a situation and becomes a human ferret, finding out things for himself."

The Dancing Mania.

The "dancing mania" of the middle ages came on the heels of the great plague known as the "black death." It was some sort of nervous disease and is now supposed to have been what is known as "St. Vitus' dance." It began in the year 1374 at Aix-la-Chapelle and spread all over Germany, the Netherlands and Italy. The dancers formed circles hand in hand and appearing to have lost all reason continued dancing, regardless of the bystanders, for hours together until in their wild delirium they fell to the ground in sheer exhaustion. Panting and foaming at the mouth, they would suddenly spring up and begin the dance again, to be again exhausted, and so on until they died. The mania involved millions of people.

"A Fool Countryman"

By EUNICE BLAKE

"John," said Mr. Whitcomb, president of the Ascola First National bank, "I've got to send $10,000 to San Miguel right off, and I want you to take it there. You'd better make an armed fortress of yourself, for I'm positive there is some one connected with the bank who is giving information to criminals whenever any sum of money leaves the bank. Hemstreet was robbed of $500 a week ago when he left without a possibility of any one outside the bank knowing that he had any money with him."

I assented to what Mr. Whitcomb said, but I made up my mind to try to pull through in my own way. I knew that a trap had been laid for Hemstreet and he had fallen into it. If there was any trap laying in my case I proposed to have a hand in it myself. I slung a short "bulldog" up my right sleeve by an elastic strap in case of an emergency, but I did not expect to use it. I got myself up as a "hayseed," not that I expected to fool those who might be laying for me, but because I might wish to fool some one else. In my hand I carried an old fashioned carpet-bag made of real carpet.

I carried the money home with me and the next day took a train that passed through the town at 4 o'clock in the morning. Glancing through a window while dressing, I saw the face of a man at a window on the opposite side of the street. His face was very white in contrast with a very black beard. He was looking straight at my window, and as soon as he saw me looking at him he disappeared.

On my way to the station I neither saw nor heard any one in the street, the stillness being marked, but once I heard faint footfalls behind me. I turned, but saw no one. However, while walking back and forth in the station who should come in but the pale faced man with the black beard. He went to the ticket office and from there to the train. On taking my seat I did not look to see if he was in the car with me, but I presumed he was. After the train had started I went to the cooler to get a drink of water, taking my bag with me, and then I saw my watcher, as I supposed him to be, sitting not far distant from the seat I was using.

Returning to it, I began to talk to a man sitting beside me. I asked him how far it was to San Miguel and what hour the banks closed there. He asked me if I was going there, and I told him I was. I asked him if he was going there, too, and he admitted that he was, whereupon I whispered to him that I had a large sum of money in my bag and offered him $25 if he would go with me from the station to the bank. He said that he would go with me cheerfully, but didn't care to take any pay for doing so.

I became quite chummy with my new found friend, who seemed to be a gentleman and was evidently a bit amused at my country simplicity. Indeed, he told me that I should not have divulged to him my secret. If I trusted him I was likely to trust others and to lose my money. I pretended to be regretful of my indiscretion, but declared that since I had trusted him at all I would trust him throughout. He seemed grateful at my confidence and agreed to do anything in his power to aid me. For this I pretended heartfelt gratitude.

When we were approaching the next station to San Miguel I proposed a plan by which my new acquaintance might get the funds safely through for me. He carried no baggage, having a trunk, which was checked. I asked him if he would get off the train with my carpet-bag at the station we were approaching and proceed by other conveyance to San Miguel and deliver the bag to me at the bank as soon as he should arrive. He asked me if the amount I carried was very large, and I told him it was over $500, which was no lie.

He now plied me with questions to test my sincerity, to all of which I gave replies that seemed to satisfy him. He also asked me if I thought any one was on my track to rob me. I told him that I suspected a man sitting back of us with a white face and a black beard. My neighbor finally consented to carry my bag for me when we left the train at San Miguel. This was the best I could do with him.

As we approached the station I got up, leaving my bag with my friend, and went again to the cooler, which was at the forward end of the car. The train was slowing up at the time, and passengers were rising from their seats. Before the train stopped I jumped off and disappeared.

Well, I saw no more of my friend until shortly after I had reached the bank. Then he came in puffing, his cravat awry, his hat caved in. I met him at the door.

"Great Scott, man, what did you leave me for with your bag just as the train pulled up to the station? They've got your money."

"Don't you worry, my friend," I replied; "there was no money in that bag. It was distributed over my person. It is now in bank. I'm no granger. I'm cashier of the First National bank of Ascola. Please make out your bill for services as messenger and for damages and I'll remunerate you, with thanks and apologies."

Not a cent would he take. The best I could do with him was to get him to dine with me. He said he had hated to see "a fool countryman" robbed, hence his sympathies. But long afterward the bank kept him from bankruptcy.

THE CURIOUS KANGAROO.

A Theory Its Queer Style of Animal Architecture Suggests.

The kangaroo family is unique and is found only in Australia. It is the most remarkable branch of the order of the marsupials, or pouched animals, the pouch being a kind of pocket in which the young are nourished and protected for a long time after birth. The opossum is an example of a marsupial inhabiting America, but it bears no outward resemblance to a kangaroo.

The marsupials arose in very ancient geological times somewhere in the mesozoic age, and later on nearly disappeared except in Australia and neighboring islands, where today they constitute the characteristic native fauna.

There is one curious fact about the kangaroo which appears all the more singular when we reflect upon the great antiquity of the order of the marsupials. It almost looks as if this extraordinary Australian animal represents a survival of a style of animal architecture which was once a favorite with nature, but has since been abandoned.

The frames of these creatures are characterized by an enormous development of the posterior parts, including gigantic tails and massive thighs and hind legs. If any of the dinosaurs had a leaping power comparable with that of the kangaroo the terror inspired by their forms must have been matched by that arising from their movements.—New York Journal.

Consider the Trees.

The trees are lovely in summer; so are the women. But how different are the women and the trees as to their clothes! To be sure, both are delightfully clothed, yet, with the abundant raiment with which the trees are supplied, they require but one trunk to hold it all.—Smart Set.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise: splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins: thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

End Indigestion Or Stomach Pain In Five Minutes

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and nobody's business.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear, thanks to Pape's Diapepsin. It's the surest, quickest and most certain relief for stomach misery.

Please, for your sake, get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable. Life is too short. You cannot be happy, cheerful, energetic. Eat what you want and digest it. Enjoy your meals! Forget that you have a stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.

A Simple, Safe And Reliable Way.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or strenuous exercise, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of Korein capsules: take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you see down to normal.

Oil of Korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume excessive fatty tissue by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Even a few days treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, waistlines become lighter, your walk seem easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling take possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial, there is nothing better. Page & Lorenz can supply you.

The most widespread disease in the world

The most widespread disease in the world today is that dread affection of the teeth called pyorrhea. Nine out of every ten grown persons have it to some extent. You may have it and be unaware of it. Why? Because scientists have proved that the cause of this disease is a germ which inhabits every human mouth, and that thousands have this disease and do not realize it until it reaches the advanced stages of bleeding gums and loose teeth.

Accept the advice dentists everywhere are giving and take special precautions in your daily toilet against this disease. To meet the need for such a daily treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste.

Sample size

Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Senreco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sentanel Remedies Co., 507 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.
